HR WITH HEART

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Dear Members of the Chester County Human Resources Association (CCHRA):

As we enter the 2024-2025 program year, SHRM CEO Johnny C. Taylor's keynote from the 2024 Conference challenges HR professionals to “run toward” pressing issues like AI, education challenges, and civil unrest. He emphasized the critical role HR plays in shaping the future of our organizations and communities. If you haven't seen his address, I highly recommend watching it.

HR professionals are the stewards of human-to-human interactions in the workplace. As we face increasing tensions—from technological disruption to societal unrest and the evolving nature of work—our commitment to cultivating civility is more crucial than ever.

CCHRA leads with civility and compassion is through our annual charity initiative. This year, CCHRA is proud to partner with Mom's House in Phoenixville, which provides free childcare and support for single, working parents pursuing education. This partnership inspired our 2024 tagline – “HR with Heart” – a reflection of our commitment to compassion and respect.

We look forward to offering programs and resources that prepare us to tackle these challenges. I welcome you to visit our website to learn more about our Chapter and our programs and events! Together, we can make a lasting impact by fostering environments where civility and collaboration thrive.

Mandie Cantlin, DPA, PHR
CCHRA President
